Excursions

London is an incredible city for students, with plenty of things to enjoy. Walking along the South Bank offers amazing views of landmarks like Big Ben, the London Eye, and Tower Bridge. You can explore world-class museums including the British Museum, the Natural History Museum, and the Science Museum. Camden Market and Covent Garden are buzzing with street performers and unique stalls, perfect for hanging out. Parks like Hyde Park and Regent's Park are ideal for relaxing or playing games. With its mix of culture, history, and modern energy, London is exciting, inspiring, and easy to explore.

Brighton is a brilliant seaside location for teenagers, packed with things to do. The iconic pebble beach is perfect for chilling out with friends, skimming stones, or snapping photos by the colourful beach huts. Strolling along Brighton Pier is full of energy, with street performers and amazing sea views. The Lanes offer quirky streets to wander, full of murals and independent vibes. For a peaceful break, Preston Park and the seafront gardens are great for relaxing or playing games. Brighton's creative, youthful atmosphere makes it a fun and memorable place for teens to explore - which is why it is a summer favourite every year!

Oxford is a fantastic city for teenagers, with plenty of things to explore. Walking through the historic colleges and cobbled streets feels like stepping into a movie set, and many quads and courtyards are open to visitors. The Ashmolean Museum and the Museum of Natural History are both nearby and filled with fascinating collections, from ancient artefacts to dinosaur skeletons. Teens can also wander along the River Thames or enjoy a stroll through University Parks or Christchurch Meadow. With its mix of history, culture, and green spaces, Oxford offers a fun and interesting experience that's both inspiring and memorable.
