TURIN – THE CITY THAT SURPRISES

When someone asks us to define Turin, we say, that Turin is a city full of surprises! Founded during the Roman epoch, Turin reached the height of its splendor during the Baroque period under the House of Savoy. Being the cradle of the Risorgimento and the first capital of Italy from 1861 to 1864, the city continued to grow in the nineteenth century to become one of Italy's most important industrial centres in the twentieth century. Modern Turin has a lot to offer its visitors: from the multiple Royal Residences of the Royal House of Savoy, UNESCO heritage, to important museums such as The National Museum of Cinema, the National Automobile Museum and the Egyptian Museum of Turin as well as modern art exhibitions, museums and cultural events. Turin is a city in constant movement, surprising with new initiatives and always on the cutting edge of creativity and dynamism. Contrary to many people's expectations, Turin promotes numerous sustainability projects, which make it one of the greenest cities of Italy.
