Course summary

This pedagogical course provides a comprehensive exploration of contemporary ELT (English Language Teaching) methodologies. It commences with the fundamentals of lesson planning, emphasizing pedagogical aims and learning objectives. The course then delves into visual aids, exploiting imagery to stimulate learner engagement. Subsequent sessions focus on enhancing literacy skills, with an emphasis on making reading instruction relevant and cultivating effective listening strategies. The course also explores current trends in teaching writing, with a focus on both product and process writing approaches and what role AI should play in a writing class. Phonetics and phonology are addressed through the teaching of pronunciation and connected speech. The course promotes learner autonomy, advocating for a learner-centric classroom environment. It also introduces EdTech (Educational Technology) tools for classroom integration. The course concludes with a focus on lexical approach, debunking traditional grammar teaching myths. The overarching aim is to equip educators with a diverse toolkit of effective teaching strategies, fostering a deep understanding of 21st-century ELT methodologies.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT AND AN INTRODUCTION TO CLIL METHODOLOGY FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS

Course summary

This course is aimed at non-native language teachers or teachers of other subjects, who have just started using CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning) or intend to implement this approach in their classroom. CLIL is used in schools to teach subjects such as general science, art and maths, using a foreign language. Whether it is the language teacher teaching another subject in a foreign language or the subject teacher using a foreign language to teach content, the outcome will be the integrated learning of both content and language.

This course will help school teachers build their confidence to use English in their classroom as well as provide them with the basic principles of CLIL methodology and practical ideas that can be applied to their CLIL lessons.

Course requirements

Teachers will normally have a level of spoken English equivalent to B1 or higher (Pre-Intermediate or higher).

Applicant must be a primary or a secondary school teacher.

Further details

Preparation

Each applicant will be asked to complete an enrolment form before the course starts. This will enable us to assess to the participants' needs.

ACCESSIBLE DIGITAL TECHNOLOGY FOR TEACHERS

Course summary

Over 50 percent of teachers worldwide are not digital natives and many work in schools that are not equipped with state-of-the-art technology. However, technology is an integral part of our students lives and today's lessons need to reflect this. This course is designed for educators seeking to enhance their teaching practices through the effective integration of technology. Participants will explore a range of digital tools and platforms that can be used to engage students, facilitate collaborative projects, and create dynamic learning experiences. The course covers key areas including how to encourage students to use technology responsibly, developing technology-driven projects, and creating interactive exercises. Additionally, educators will delve into the emerging role of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in education, learning how to leverage AI tools to personalize instruction and support student learning. The course aims to make technology accessible for all teachers no matter what their previous experience by covering the latest developments in e-learning and exploiting the potential of students' own devices as learning tools. Through practical, hands-on sessions you will learn how to create interactive lessons and digital content using basic online tools and apps that can be used in a primary or secondary school environment. Educators will document their progress throughout the course by posting updates in the form of videos, blogs etc on social media.

Preparation

All trainees need to bring a laptop or tablet to all sessions with a mouse and charger. Students bringing company devices must make sure that they have administrative permission in order to download the software that is an essential part of this course.

Course Requirements

Participants attending this course must have a minimum English level of B1 (Pre-Intermediate or higher)

Course Objectives

By the end of the course participants will be better able to...

- integrate a variety of digital tools into their teaching practices to enhance student engagement and learning outcomes.

ERASMUS+ PROJECT DESIGN AND MANAGEMENT

Course summary

This course aims to provide a broad knowledge of the Erasmus + program related to Key Actions 1 and Key Action 2 and allow schools to develop the skills necessary to undertake, assess, and manage project actions. A particular focus will be dedicated to the new Erasmus+ Accreditation. The course trainers have around 20-year experience in European project management and planning, and they planned lessons and materials to transfer their know-how and develop participant skills.

The modules will cover all the needs of the project cycle from developing the idea, finding partners, designing, and developing the concept, managing, assessing, and reporting. Step by step, you will be guided to create your international project, and, thanks to the five extra hours of distance learning assistance, you will be supported in setting up your project proposal.

The international environment of this course and the networking activities organised by EasySL will allow you to contact teachers and educational operators from all over Europe and get the chance to network, find new partners, and exchange good practices.
